Trip Overview

Larkya Peak Climbing is a trekking and climbing expedition of Larkya Peak (6249 M). The right sub-peak of the mighty Manaslu mountain through the trail bordering the Gorkha and Manang regions of Nepal. This Climbing trail is perfect for Climbers to warm up before doing the other higher peaks in the Himalayas, from the top of Larkya Peak.

But you can view the breathtaking views of the higher mountains surrounding it to the horizon. One must remember the way up to the base camp of the Peak. And as it follows the same route as the Manaslu Circuit. We need all the permits for trekking and climbing in these restricted areas. Prepare for an adventure with lifelong memories in the lap of Manaslu.

Larkya peak climbing is well made with gradual altitude adjustment. And optimal distance traveling with occasional rest, as well as acclimatization days. Larkya Peak Climbing prepares you for the climbing expedition of Manaslu as well.

Walking through the Brahmin, Magar, Karki, Gurung, and Bhote villages. We can collect some tips from some of the experienced and senior mountaineers, too. Mountain climbing is thrilling and, in some cases, dangerous too. So a well-trained guide is a must. Manaslu Guide Nepal assists you very well in preparation, transport, and trained guides with the required experience in the Larkya Peak Expedition.

Lastly, for Larkya Peak climbing, we need a climbing permit, a restricted permit. And a Manaslu Conservation Area Project permit (MCAP) for the same way back to Kathmandu. Moreover, if we cross Larkya La Pass, then we should buy an Annapurna Conservation Permit (ACAP). After crossing the pass, the Annapurna area needs an ACAP permit to do a trek. We recommended to through the Annapurna part. It is a different scenery and circuit trail for trekkers.
